The Rochester Environmental And Sensory Processing Awareness (RESPA) Checklist: Train-the-Trainer

November 12th and 13th, 2009

Generously hosted by Pathfinders Village

Through the combined effort of the PADD program and a team of service providers across NYS, the RESPA checklists were created in order to provide a consistent method of identifying and communicating:

- Personal preferences,
- Sensory processing abilities, and
- Potential environmental stimuli at home or in programmatic settings that may interfere with an individual's ability to engage with others, participate in activities, and/or carry out basic functions of daily living. There are three checklists – (1) Individual, (2) Day Program, and (3) Residential. This Train-the-Trainer session will review: essentials of the aging process that may affect our sensory processing abilities, the development and goals of each checklist, and how to interpret the findings. Each participant will have time to complete one checklist during the session and make recommendations based the results. It is expected that participants will become the "experts" in completing the RESPA checklists and be able to train others at their agencies in the use of these items. RESPA checklists may be administered by staff, nurses, clinicians or family members who should receive training prior to use.
