University of Rochester LEAH Mission

To improve the health of adolescents and young adults in our community, across New York State, Public Health Service Region II, and throughout the nation, the Rochester LEAH interdisciplinary training project:

- Prepares trainees for leadership roles in clinical services, research, training, and health systems for adolescents, especially those who are underserved or who have special health care needs, and
- Engages faculty leaders in enhancing Maternal and Child Health (MCH) activities through collaboration and partnership with a variety of public, private and voluntary entities by providing technical assistance, consultation, continuing education, and other needed support services.
