VISITING CLERKSHIP PROGRAM

Diversity and Inclusion at URMC

URMC cultivates a diverse and inclusive environment that guides and transforms our approaches to healthcare, education, research and community partnerships.

A limited number of visiting clerkship positions are available at the University of Rochester Medical Center from August through November of 2024 for select applicants who have a demonstrated vision and commitment to improving the health status of diverse patient populations via patient care, research and/or teaching. The visiting clerkship program is designed to give students an opportunity to experience training at URMC and to connect with faculty, residents, and 4th year medical students.

- Funding includes up to $3,000 for travel and housing reimbursement.
- Each student will be paired with a faculty member that will serve as a mentor and advisor.
- Each student will be given the opportunity to meet with the Residency Program Director.
- Each student will be paired with a resident and 4th year medical student who will introduce them to the medical center, its resources, and the Rochester community.

Eligibility
- Registered student in good standing at their home school while participating in the externship
- Full-time, final year medical student attending an LCME-accredited U.S. medical school
- Completed 3rd year core clerkships
- U.S. citizen or permanent resident
- Demonstrated vision and commitment to improving the health status of diverse patient populations via patient care, research and/or teaching
