

DocuSign: Selecting the correct DocuSign account

DocuSign Part 11 is available for clinical research teams and is both 21 CFR Part 11 and HIPPA compliant. DocuSign Part 11 should ONLY be used when obtaining eConsent for an FDA-regulated study or if a sponsor says you need to use it to sign documents for your specific study. You'll need to request access to the DocuSign Part 11 account if you are a sender of documents for electronic signature, or eConsent AND if you're a signer, a person that only needs to sign documents.

The University of Rochester has two types of accounts, DocuSign eSignature and DocuSign Part 11. Once you log in, you may have multiple DocuSign accounts associated with your email address. If you already have a DocuSign account with a University of Rochester email address, your DocuSign eSignature account will not be merged but rather linked with your membership to the DocuSign Part 11 account. This allows you to either choose which account you want to access or switch between accounts after successfully logging in.
