“What do we do with the answers?”
Connecting families with resources after we ask about household conditions and social determinants of health.

Community Partner Panelists:

Shawn Brown, Program Coordinator
Teen Empowerment

Megan Callanan Lasaponara, MD, Executive Director
Kids Thrive 585, Inc.

Elizabeth Murray, DO, MBA, FAAP
REACH Clinic
Bivona Child Advocacy Center

Julie Roselli, Principal
Joseph C. Wilson Magnet High School

Sue Segelman, NOEP Coordinator
Nutrition Outreach & Education Program
Legal Assistance of Western New York, Inc.

The goal of this year's Dyson Day will be to facilitate connections between physicians, families and community-based services.

“Educating, connecting and advocating in our communities to do what works for health.”
www.plccare.org