Microbiome Research Roundtable Discussion

Tuesday, September 20, 2016

11:30 AM – 12:30 PM

KMRB 1.9624

Microbiome Research Roundtable Discussion with guest speaker Ken Cadwell, PhD from New York University, and Felix Yarovinsky, MD from URMC, is organized to learn about the utility of the newly established germ-free mouse facility at the URMC, with particular emphasis on applications to immunity and HIV related research.

Ken Cadwell, Ph.D., is an associate professor in the Skirball Institute and the Department of Microbiology at New York University School of Medicine. His laboratory strives to understand how a balanced immune response is generated during an infection, and why some individuals develop harmful inflammatory responses directed towards otherwise beneficial microbes that are part of the gut microbiome. Dr. Cadwell is a Burroughs Wellcome Fund Investigator in Pathogenesis of Infectious Diseases and a recent recipient of the Ann Palmenberg Junior Investigator Award.
