

CLINICAL & TRANSLATIONAL SCIENCE INSTITUTE

Thomas T. Fogg
Executive Director for Operations

CTSI Retreat

November 11, 2014

Renewing our Strategic Focus;
Preparing for Action

Mission - details

Retreat Feedback - Mission

Mission Concepts

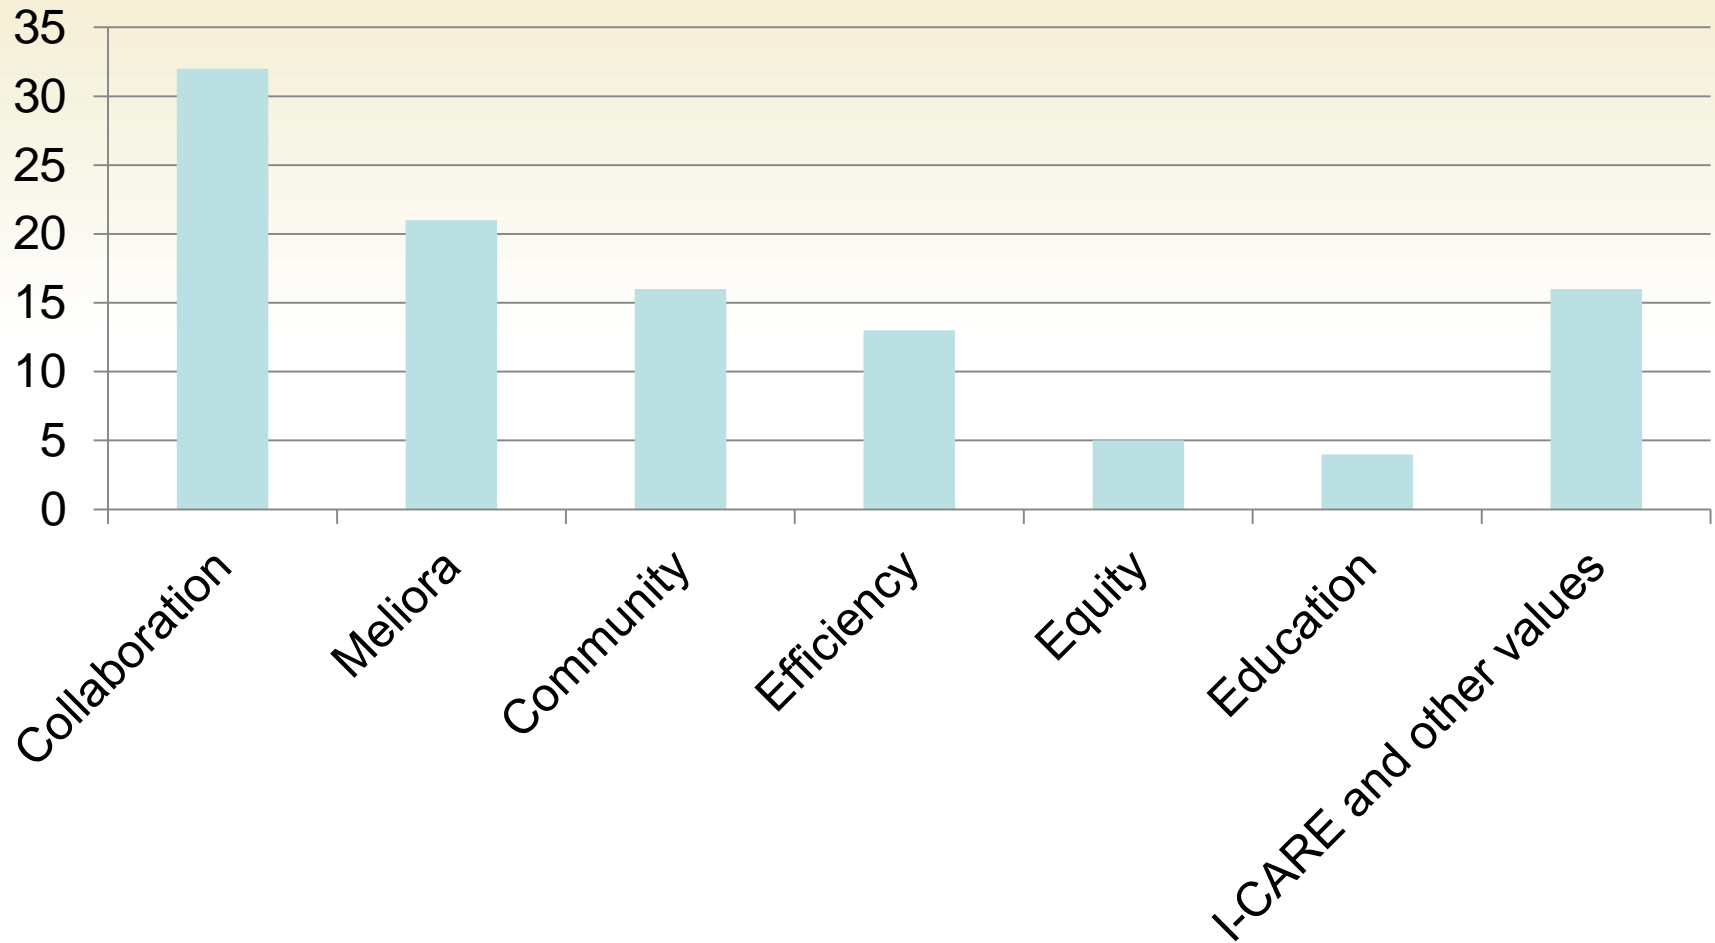

Values - details

Retreat Feedback - Values

Values

Population Health Objectives

A Definition

Population health science is the study of the impact of interventions on health outcomes, quality and cost that address a community's specific needs.

Objectives

1. Enhance methods to measure and demonstrate improvements in population health
2. Increase capacity to make use of population health data
3. Increase capacity to conduct community-engaged population health research
4. Increase early-career training opportunities in population health and population research