

Immediate Tooth Replacement Therapy with Multiple Implants, Teeth and Pontics in the Esthetic Zone

Current trends in implant therapy advocate clinical techniques, thereby allowing treatment efficiency consisting of condensed clinical procedures, fewer patient appointments and shortened overall treatment time. Even though there is overwhelming literature to support positive outcomes in regard to implant survival through immediate implant therapy and tooth replacement strategies, esthetics questions still loom, specifically how to handle multiple tooth sites in the esthetic zone.

This presentation will address treatment planning strategies with multiple tooth sites incorporating teeth, immediate implants with tooth replacement and pontics in the esthetic zone, as well as innovative devices and strategies in provisional restoration fabrication.

About our speaker

Stephen J. Chu, DMD, MSD, CDT

Dr. Chu maintains an academic appointment as Adjunct Clinical Professor in the Ashman Department of Periodontology and Implant Dentistry and the Department of Prosthodontics at New York University College of Dentistry. He also has a private practice in fixed prosthodontics, esthetic and implant dentistry in New York City.

Dr. Chu has published over 50 articles in dental literature and has given lectures nationally and internationally on the subjects of esthetic, restorative and implant dentistry. Dr. Chu is also on the editorial review board of several peer-reviewed dental journals.

He is the recipient of the Peter Scharer distinguished lecturer award from the European Academy of Esthetic Dentistry, as well as the Lloyd L. Miller distinguished lecturer and E. B. Clark award from the Society for Color and Appearance in Dentistry.

About the Handelman Conference

The conference was established to pay tribute to Dr. Stanley L. Handelman and his success as an educator, researcher, mentor and friend. Dr. Handelman's career at the University of Rochester Eastman Institute for Oral Health spanned nearly 50 years. The Institute's General Dentistry Residency Program has become preeminent among its contemporaries. It serves as a model for the development of accreditation standards for advanced educational programs in general dentistry. Dr. Handelman has been described as the 'father of postdoctoral general dentistry education' and a fund has been established in his honor.

Synopsis

The seminar will be a discussion of immediate placement and provisionalization as related to:

- Innovative techniques for better esthetics
- Condensed clinical procedures
- Decreased treatment time
- Fewer patient appointments
- Clinical research and histologic evidence
- Discussion of controversial topics such as:
 - Immediate implant placement in the anterior area
 - Immediate provisional restoration of anterior implants
 - Survival and esthetic outcomes

Learning Objectives

After this presentation, the attendee should be able to understand the following concepts associated with immediate implant placement and provisional restoration:

- The treatment time and survival rates associated with immediate protocols
- The prosthetic and biologic impact on hard tissue buccal contour change and peri-implant soft tissue thickness
- Prosthodontic innovations in provisional restoration fabrication
- Management of implants placed into extraction sockets with dehiscence defects
