Presented by:

Erin Duecy, MD
Associate Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology
Associate Professor of Urology
Director, Residency Program in Obstetrics and Gynecology

Michael R. Privitera, MD
Professor of Psychiatry
Director, Outpatient Psychiatric Consultation Service
Medical Director, Medical Faculty and Clinician Wellness Program

This session will address national and state level efforts to improve wellness, modeling ways to decrease stigma, and paving the way for getting help, and efforts being done by the very institutions whose purpose is to protect the public to reduce burnout. URMC individual and organizationally-based structural changes to decrease occupational stress and improve wellness will also be addressed.

At the conclusion of the seminar, the participant will be able to:
1. Appreciate that individual efforts to reduce burnout must also have the commitment to action of organizations and stakeholders in the healthcare system.
2. Discuss specific efforts to reduce burnout being done by organizations and stakeholders in the healthcare system.
