

Dr. Sadeghi is conducting a behavioral data analysis from a cohort of South African women in an effort to gain better insight to sexual behavior in HIV-infected and HIV-uninfected adolescent women. This information will be beneficial in developing targeted public health interventions for HIV prevention in this population.