

Department of Emergency Medicine Research and Academic News

JULY 2015

Congratulations!

Dave Adler was elected to the Steering Committee for the 1st Annual University of Rochester Global Health Symposium which was held on June 15, 2015. In addition, he was also the coordinator for the Symposium's Section on Global Cervical Cancer Prevention. This section of the Symposium included presenters from University of Illinois at Chicago and the University of North Carolina. Dave also spoke about his research in a presentation entitled, "HIV-HPV Co-infection and Cervical Cancer in South Africa".

Heather Martin awarded the 2015 Sigma Theta Tau Epsilon Xi Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP) Capstone Award for her project entitled: "Improving Nurse and Nurse Practitioner Communication in the Pediatric Emergency Department through Use of Huddle Structured with SBAR" which embodies a high standard of scholarship and quality improvement in the field of nursing.

A big congratulations to the 3rd year EM Residents who graduated on June 18th. We wish you all the best in your future endeavors.

The Resident Research Award was presented to John DeAngelis for his study entitled Minor Head Trauma, Clinical Decision Making Rules, and Head CTs: The Experience at a Large Urban Trauma Center.

Dave Adler, Flavia Nobay, Josef Bartels, Jennifer Corcoran and Stacy Salerno had two studies approved through the EM Research Committee entitled Burden of Disease, ED Utilization, and Healthcare Expenditure in the Setting of Homelessness and Perspectives on Emergency Care in the Setting of Homelessness. Dave is the PI on the Burden of Disease, ED Utilization, and Healthcare Expenditure in the Setting of Homelessness and Flavia is the PI on Perspectives on Emergency Care in the Setting of Homelessness.

Publications

Shah MN, Wasserman EB, Wang H, Noyes K, Wood NE, Nelson D, Dozier A, McConnochie KM. High-intensity telemedicine decreases emergency department use by senior living community residents. Telemedicine and e-Health. In Press.

Presentations

Courtney Jones has two abstracts accepted for oral presentation entitled Effect of Advanced Patient Age on EMS Provider Clinical Judgment in the Field Triage of Injured Patients and National Epidemiology of Recreational Ice Skating Injuries Presenting to US Emergency Departments at the 143rd APHA Annual Meeting and Exposition, October 31 - November 4, 2015 in Chicago.

Department of Emergency Medicine

Internal Mail: Box 655C Email Phone: 585.275.1198

Issue: 7-2015 EMR Newsletter