JUNE 2016

Congratulations!

Erika Lash, a medical student working with Erik Rueckmann, was selected for an EMRA (Emergency Medicine Residents' Association) travel award to the SAEM (Society for Academic Emergency Medicine) Annual meeting, which paid for her registration as well as travel.

Annan Hiram, a MD/PHD student working with Jeff Bazarian, was awarded a CTSI Pilot Study grant for The importance of axonal injury and inflammation in the acute phase of mild traumatic brain injury (MTBI) as well as an Infection and Immunity: from molecules to populations (IIMP), Interdisciplinary Pilot Award for The importance of inflammation in the acute stage of mild traumatic brain injury. These pilots are intended to "transform" research approaches in all URMC PhD programs by having current pre-doctoral students incorporate both laboratory and population training in their dissertation research.
