

I have two exciting updates to share with you:

First: An architectural firm has been selected for the new Fitness Center location in College Town. A representative from URM's Wellness Committee will be providing input to assure member feedback is included as we determine the interior design and layout. Based on preliminary estimates, the new location should be open in Summer 2022.

Second: After consolidating some PPE, we will be able to temporarily re-open the workout area <only> in the existing Fitness Center on Monday August 16! Monthly fees will be $24/month for staff & faculty and $10/month for students & residents - and there will be no charge for locker use (showers available). Anyone interested in membership will need to complete new membership paperwork to gain access to the facility, which we expect will remain open until April 2022.

More information about the reopening, as well as membership forms, available on the Fitness Center website.
