

Jeff Abbott, NYSAEMT-P, CCEMT-P, TCCC-P
Trauma Injury Prevention & Community Outreach Coordinator
John R. Oishei Children's Hospital

Jeff attended Grand Island High School and graduated in 1993. He attended Niagara County Community College for his paramedic certification in less than a year of becoming an EMT. Jeff has been involved in EMS since 1999 as an EMT with Twin City Ambulance working the City of Buffalo, where he grew up. In addition to working urban EMS, he became a fly car medic in the rural areas of Niagara County. In 2010, Jeff was appointed as the Assistant Director of Emergency Management for the City of North Tonawanda where he remained until this past summer. In 2012, Jeff deployed to Kabul, Afghanistan where he worked as a tactical medic for the US Embassy. In his role he provided security to Department of State personnel while on convoys and on US Embassy grounds. After his return, he began working at Mercy EMS. With his wide range of experience he was swiftly promoted to the flight line as a Flight Medic where he still remains very active. He served as an FTO and Quality inspection Manager while at Mercy Flight. He also has been a SWAT medic for a law enforcement agency since 2015.

Mr. Abbott has been a consistent proponent of his career and peers in the EMS industry. He served as union president and is currently an instructor for many EMS classes and certifications as well as in the tactical arena. Jeff continues his education to the EMS community, along with the general public, through his role as the Trauma Injury Prevention Coordinator & Community Outreach Coordinator for John R. Oishei Children's Hospital. Additionally he is heavily involved in MCI planning within Kaleida and the WNY area.

Jeff lives in Cambria, NY with his wife Denise and 3 sons and, has 2 adult daughters.
He is an avid outdoorsman and runner.
