

Kevin McGee, DO, FACEP
Chief of Emergency Medicine
Veterans Affairs Western New York Healthcare Systems - Buffalo Division

Assistant Clinical Professor and EMS Medical Director
UB|MD Emergency Medicine, EMS Division

Dr. Kevin McGee began his career in EMS as an EMT-B, and later went on to complete Paramedic training. He operated with several of EMS agencies and hospitals throughout Northeastern Ohio prior to attending medical school. Upon completion of medical school, Dr. McGee attended SUNY University of Buffalo's Residency in Emergency Medicine. Since graduating from residency in 2009, Dr. McGee has remained as faculty for the department of Emergency Medicine and EMS Fellowship. He holds the title of Assistant Clinical Professor of Emergency Medicine, and is board certified in Emergency Medicine and Emergency Medical Services.

Dr. McGee currently operates as Medical Director for the Erie County Sheriff's Office Medical Response Unit (MRU) and Assistant Medical Director to Erie County EMS. Dr. McGee's area of academic interest is the field of Operational Medicine and has authored several text related to this field.

Dr. McGee is the Chief of Emergency Medicine for the VA WNY Health System and is actively involved with several federal law enforcement and EMS agencies including the 914th AW/MSG/ASTS, FBI, and US Border Patrol.