Rochester researchers pursue quick ways to test for COVID-19
As researchers around the world race to respond to the pandemic, three scientists at the University of Rochester are rapidly adapting previous research to develop tests to detect the fast-spreading disease.

Learn more »

New URMC coronavirus research examines immune response
URMC is launching a new study that could have significant implications for the public health response to the pandemic, the development of vaccines, and decisions about reopening the economy and society.

Learn more »

Rochester responds
Rochester alumni and friends are helping keep health care workers safe, donating iPads so patients can stay in touch, advancing COVID-19 research, and supporting students with emergency needs.

Learn more »

'Everyone wins'
New programs launched by School of Medicine and Dentistry alumni offer COVID-19 pop-up, drive-through testing sites and telehealth services to serve underrepresented communities.

Learn more »

Day of Giving Thursday, June 4
Lifesaving healthcare. Rigorous academics. Unprecedented discovery. These are core to our mission and critical for the future. During this rapidly changing time, the Medical Center looks to its friends for support now more than ever before.

Learn More »

Social media spotlight
Make a gift to the URMC COVID-19 Emergency Fund
From providing personal protective equipment to building COVID-related research to funding critical support for medical staff, your gift will be directed to our highest priority needs. For questions or more information, please visit the URMC Advancement website.

Make a gift »