Pathway Director

Stephanie Brown Clark, MD, PhD

Pathway Coordinator

Christine Donnelly

Pathway Mentor

Each Pathway student works with an advisor/mentor who oversees their Pathway progress and advises them on their final Pathway project. The student selects a mentor from the Medical Humanities and Bioethics faculty, or other faculty approved by the Pathway Director.

Supervised Project

Students are required to complete a Pathway project of their choosing. Pathway projects can focus on visual arts, literature, narrative, film, music, gender and women's studies, cultural studies, religious studies, philosophy, history or theatre. In Year 1 and 2, students must meet with their advisor to identify areas of interest, learning goals and appropriate activities; identify, research and develop a project. In Year 3 and Year 4, students must meet with their Pathway Project mentor to review progress on their Project.

Year 1 and 2

- In Year 1, attend three two-hour Medical Humanities Master's Seminars in the Spring Semester, read at least one of the required readings (other readings are optional), and participate in discussions.
- In Year 2, attend three two-hour Medical Humanities Master's Seminars in the Fall Semester, read at least one of the required readings (other readings are optional), and participate in discussions.
- Students must meet with their advisor to identify areas of interest, learning goals and appropriate activities; identify, research and develop a project.

Year 3 and 4

- Continue working on and developing Pathway Project together with mentor.
- May take up to four weeks of elective MHU615 – Independent Creative/Research Projects in Medical Humanities and Bioethics to work on Pathway Project.

Medical Humanities Events or Community Engagement Activities

Must attend or participate in at least eight (8) events or community engagement activities each year in Years 1, 2 and 3/4, for example:

- Medical Humanities Interest Group – Regular attendance and active participation in the Medical Humanities Interest Group is expected. Each meeting attended counts toward the required eight (8) annual activities. (This group is under development. Information will be disseminated in the coming months.)
- Noon Conferences
 - Interdisciplinary Clinical Ethics Noon Conference (1st Wed of each month at noon)
 - Medical Humanities Noon Conference (2nd Fri of each month at noon)
 - Schwartz Center Conference (3rd Wed of each month at noon)

Submit Summary/Image of Events and Activities

Within 48 hours of attending events or activities, submit to Pathway Director via email, in tweet format, a summary and/or image of the event or activity you attended. Submissions may be used for Division of Medical Humanities & Bioethics social media (i.e. Facebook, Twitter, or web page).

Portfolio

To track activities and create a portfolio of work, each Pathway student completes a checklist of requirements and activities in year 1, 2 and 3/4. The student's mentor and Advisory Dean signs the form, and the check sheet is submitted to the Pathway Coordinator who will obtain the Pathway Director's signature.
