The NCDHR team has grown! Please join us in welcoming three new members to our team:

Jenna, Salatiel and Riki.

Jenna Stewardson, our new Research Assistant, graduated with a Bachelor's of Science in Cultural Anthropology from Rochester Institute of Technology in December 2015. She grew up in District of Columbia metropolitan area and moved to Rochester in 2004. Her position at the NCDHR is to provide support to coordinators with the projects and handle majority of video production.

Salatiel Pineda, a new Research Coordinator, is a big fan of the Lakers and Dodgers since he hails from Los Angeles by way of Washington, D.C. He graduated from Gallaudet University with a Bachelor of Arts in Psychology. He worked in K-12 educational setting and consumer advocacy field before moving to Rochester to join us. His role involves coordinating current research projects, like Deaf Weight Wise 2.0!

Riki de la Puente, our new Communications Coordinator, graduated with a Bachelor's of Fine Arts in Visual Media from Rochester Institute of Technology in May 2016. Riki is born and raised in Southern California but moved to Rochester in 2011 for school. She decided to stay in the community after graduating because she liked what she has been seeing in Rochester so far. Her role at NCDHR consisted of designing logos, infographics, and promoting flyers.

Jenna, Salatiel and Riki will be working on Deaf Weight Wise 2.0, NYS Department of Health AIDS Institute projects, the Campus Sexual Health Survey, and our other ongoing projects. We are so happy to have them on board. To see our complete staff list and video introductions, visit <https://www.urmc.rochester.edu/ncdhr/information/staff.aspx>
