

Casey Hanaburgh, PA-C

Casey completed her Bachelor of Science degree in Physician Assistant Studies at Daemen College in Amherst, NY in 2001. She was hired at Ridgewood Medical group in July 2001, and continued to work at Ridgewood Medical until the practice joined UR Medicine Primary Care in November 2016. She is a member of the American Academy of Physician Assistants.

Casey enjoys primary care because of the relationships she has developed with patients and their families over the years. She enjoys partnering with patients in managing a variety of health problems. She strives to provide each patient with adequate time to discuss their concerns and answer their questions. Casey has a special interest in the management of diabetes.
