Current options for Lead Test Specimen Type are:

- Fingertick
- Venous

As of 5/4/2016 these options for Lead Test Specimen Type will change to:

- Capillary
- Venous

Capillary draws include Fingertick, Heel and Toe collections.

This change is being made to reflect the various methods to collect capillary draws and affects ordering only; there is no change to results.

If you have any questions or need assistance with this information, please contact Dr. Yan Victoria Zhang via the methods listed above.
