

UR Medicine Urology Opens New Comprehensive Clinic

In December, UR Medicine opened the doors on a new, state-of-the-art Urology Clinic. The clinic will improve patient access and care by consolidating three outpatient locations into one 24,280 square foot facility located at Sawgrass Drive in Rochester. The new facility nearly doubles total clinical and administrative space and increases the number of exam rooms from 18 to 34 and procedure rooms from 6 to 11.

The new space will house a comprehensive Kidney Stone Treatment Center and Men’s Health Center. It will expand the cancer and male infertility service lines, increase access for diagnostic procedures, and provide same day or next day patient access for acute clinical services. The new space will also house an expanding clinical trials team that will facilitate patient access and advance translational research.

“This new clinic will enable us to consolidate resources and realize the efficiencies of locating outpatient services in one location, all of which will improve the patient experience and meet the rising demand for urological care,” said Jean Joseph, M.D., M.B.A., F.A.C.S., chair of the Department of Urology.

The Department of Urology – which has added 13 new faculty and advanced practices providers since 2018 – experienced a 44 percent increase in patient volume over the last three years, a trend expected to continue as the population ages (more than 50 percent of urology patients are over the age of 65).
